Summary of State News.

LAWRENCEVILLE.

A negro boy by the name of Hendricks was lodged in jail last week charged with an assault with intent to commit a rape upon a white woman. We understand the negro does not deny it, but as the facts will undergo a judicial investigation we will not state the rumors.——On last Wednesday and Thursday nights the exhibition of he Lawrenceville Seminary came off. On the first evening the weather was very disagreeable, yet the academy was filled with a large audience. The scholars acquitted themselves handsomely, and premiums were awarded to a large number. Herald.

ROME.

About 12 o'clock on Sunday the city and vicinity were visited by a very heavy fall of rain, followed by two or three severe flashes of lightning one of which struck a large tree near the residence of Captain J. T. Moore, at the upper end of Broad street, tearing it into splinters from the top to the bottom. The lightning also struck the track of the Rome Railroad, following it with a cracking, popping noise for a considerable distance. No damage to be the road. During the evening and night the heaviest rain of the season fell.

——William Wallace and two brothers named Borman had a fight on Monday and made it likely for the down town people for about forty minutes. After each had stowed away about fifteen glasses of benzine, a discussion arose as to who was the best farmer, which could only be decided by an appeal to the "manual art." The appeal was made with varying success, and might have been prolonged indefinitely but for the arrival of two officers of the law, before whom matters subsided very rapidly, and the warriors were marched off, not in the paths of glory but to the lock up.—Commercial.

SAVANNAH.

The ladies of the Memorial Association held a special meeting on Tuesday, at which it was determined to hold a fair, the proceeds of which are to be appropriated to paying for the monument to the Confederate dead. The mouument will be placed in one of the most beautiful squares in the city, either in front of the court-house or the theatre——On Sunday a boat was picked up drifting in the river, and upon examination it was found to contain the dead body of a negro, and another negro sound asleep. Investigation developed the fact that the dead negro, named Manigult, and the live one, Anderson, had gone across the river the evening before with another negro unknown to them. When across, the strange negro assaulted and killed Manigult, Anderson being too drunk to leave the boat. Anderson has been sent to jail to await examination.——John Wright colored slept with his friend, Sam Williams, on Tuesday night. In the night John's five dollar bill crept over and found its way into Sam's breeches pocket. The next day Justice Smith fished it out with a search warrant.—Advertiser and Republican.

DALTON.

An old darkey said to another on the street the other day, "De cholery am comin', Jim." "When?—what?—how fur am it from town?—did you see it?" breathlessly exclaimed his companion. "No, but it's in Chattanoogy, and it'll be here by night on de train, sartin." "Oh, Lordy!" cried his terrified companion, as he struck a bee-line southward, with his hands clasped across his stomach. "First nig hasn't been seen in Dalton since.——Everything in the crop line, so far as we have seen or heard, is looking well and growing finely, promising an abundant yield to the industrious agriculturist.—Citizen.

☞ Last Thursday night, says a constant visitor at the Thomas Garden concerts in New York, I witnessed what I thought a proposal, all by fan, which was very amusing to me, but evidently serious to those engaged. It was a fair young couple, who sat near me. Augustus wrote a long letter, a letter covering one side of the fan, then gave it to Pamela, and appeared much occupied with the orchestra, which he had until now ignored. Pamela, as she read the writing on the fan, blushed "celestial rosy red" and then turned pale and trembled. She turned the fan over and wrote on the clean side two words; then, after a few moments of hesitation, touched her lover's arm and pushed the fan toward him. Augustus smiled, thrust the fan in his breast pocket, and gazing up offered Pamela his arm. Fortunately the last note of part second was finished, and these doves could leave their seats and go into the garden. I presumed they would not return to their seats in the concert-room, but was mistaken. With the first note of the overture in part third, Augustus and Pamela came back, the very happiest looking pair of lovers I ever met; he, radiant and proud; she, modest and serene, and as the two belong to wealthy, fashionable families, I expect about next September to see the announcement of the marriage.

☞ The wife of a Methodist minister in Tennessee has been seriously ill for some time, but, says a Southern paper in announcing the fact, "hopes are entertained that she will recover." And then it adds, "Let him (the husband) have the sympathy and prayers of his brethren in this hour of affliction and discouragement."

☞ "He is dead; but he pays just as well as he ever did," was the reply the Belfast Journal got to a dunning letter.

☞ Sunday schools have been running in Indianapolis for fifty years; and yet eight out of ten of the male citizens wink when they call for soda water.

☞ The Pittsburg girl has sent back those two barges of coal which her father gave her for a bridal present, and says she guesses she can make it hot enough for "hubby" without any outside help.

☞ An impressed-minded Brooklyn girl said to a gentleman the other night: "The mosquitoes are terrible. I wish you could see my back!" "I wish I could," was the quiet reply.

☞ Three ladies that no one ever met. A lady that used powder, a lady who flirted and a lady who was going out much this winter.

☞ A Kentucky heifer was lately sold in England for $10,000.

A Jealous Lover Hanged.

Enforcing the Death Penalty in Massachusetts

Albert H. Smith Hanged for the Murder of Charles D. Sackett—The Story of a Remarkable Crime—Shooting the Favored Suitor of the Girl he Loved.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., June 27.—Albert H. Smith was hanged in the jail yard in this city this morning for the fatal shooting of Charles D. Sackett in Westfield on the evening of the 20th of November last. At the time of the shooting, Sackett was escorting home from a theatrical performance Miss Jennie Bates, daughter of a well-to-do farmer of Westfield. Sackett, who was a bachelor of about 40, had for some time been paying attention to Miss Bates, and about a month before the shooting they had become engaged. As they approached her father's house on the fatal evening they were confronted by Smith, who, coming out of a neighbor's yard drew a revolver and in rapid succession. Three of the bullets struck Miss Bates, one inflicting a severe wound in the back of the head, another lodging in the right hand, and the third hitting her on the temple. Her wounds, however, though not serious, were dangerous. The single shot which Smith lodged in the body of Sackett was more efficacious, though the wounded man did not at first appreciate the extent of his injuries, assisting his betrothed to her home before he even discovered that he was even hurt himself. Noticing then some blood on his shirt bosom, he found that a bullet had entered his right breast. Sackett was removed to his own house the next day, and for some little time his recovery seemed probable. But the ball proved to have lodged in the right lung, whence it was impossible to remove it, inflammation set in, and on Tuesday, December 3, thirteen days after the shooting, he died.

FIRED SEVEN SHOTS

A DISCARDED LOVER'S REVENGE.

Much as the community was shocked by the news of Smith's murderous attack, there were not a few persons who were in a measure prepared for it by having heard his repeated threats to injure Sackett. Smith was a lover of Miss Bates, and during the previous summer had for a time enjoyed her favor. But when, in the early fall, Sackett, whom she had known before her family came to Westfield, renewed his suit, Smith's attentions, which culminated in repeated requests that she would be his wife, became distasteful to her, and she at last quite repelled him. When Smith learned that his rival was to be successful in obtaining the woman, he became infuriated against him, and on the fatal evening told a number of persons that he was going to shoot him. Immediately after emptying his revolver, Smith walked leisurely to the depot, and then, taking the usual track, went on foot to ward West Springfield, where he was living at the time. He was arrested at 12:30 that night while asleep in bed, and was taken to Westfield in irons.

THE TRIAL AND SENTENCE.

On the death of his victim Smith was indicted for murder in the first degree, was tried at the April term of the Supreme Court, and found guilty as indicted. On Monday, May 5, Smith was taken into court for sentence. Being asked by Chief Justice Chapman whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, Smith surprised the audience by rising and thus addressing the Judge: "I have nothing to say, sir, for it don't concern me." The Chief Justice then imposed the penalty which the law prescribes, the time for its execution being left to the Governor and Council. The latter at a meeting on the 29th of May appointed the 27th of June as the fatal day.

PREFERRING DEATH TO LIFE WITHOUT JENNIE.

Since his sentence Smith has exhibited an indifference as to his fate, frequently declaring that he preferred to die rather than live without Jennie Bates. In an interview last night, he said:

The nearer my end draws to me the happier and more contented I feel. If my sentence was commuted at last and I was to be sentenced for life, why, with these feelings upon my mind, I am sure, sir, that in less than six months I should be a raving maniac—for this feeling for the girl that is on me with such a power, I know it would drive me mad to remove me from her. Therefore, I long for the hour of death. It will only remove from me the trouble that is on my mind, for life to me is a burden, to die is gain. (Taking a photograph of Miss Bates from the bed.) There hain't been a night since I had that picture here but what I have had it placed under my pillow and I have laid for hours talking with it, and I have got nearly as much comfort out of it as if she were here. But I would rather see her face in person. As to my situation, I don't feel fear of it. All that I wait for now is to see her after I die. As to my future I feel prepared. All that I shed tears for now is for her that I may see her. If I cannot see her in this life I can in the life to come; and there is no time, sir, that I have uttered a prayer since I have been in here that I don't offer one for her.

He made the most minute arrangements as to the disposition of his body and its transportation to Baltimore, the city of his birth. He even named the pall bearers to accompany his body to the depot.

SMITH'S CONFESSION.

The following is an abstract of Smith's confession:

It was on that fatal 20th of November night when I went to Westfield to see Jennie, not knowing that she was at the theatre at the time. I started up to her house, but on the way I found out that she and Sackett had gone to the theatre. There I was, and felt like one that could die, and all the feelings that ever animated a human breast was in mine. I was like one that was mad, and in fact I must have been partly so from what was said in the trial against me. I knew nothing from that hour that Sackett was with Jennie. I know not of what Boderay or the two night watchmen said that I did at the depot. All is new to me. If I was in the condition they say I was, as a wild or crazy man. I remember of my meeting Jennie and Sackett together on the sidewalk. Then as a wild man, still, I shot down Sackett, but as for shooting the girl I will say, and always have said it was through an accident. When I heard she was shot I felt sorry, and I have shed many tears for her because she was shot by me. I knew not what I was about or doing.

THE HANGING.

About 10 o'clock this morning private religious services were held at the residence of the sheriff, when Smith offered an earnest prayer in his own behalf. Subsequently the usual religious ceremonies took place in the jail. The hymn commencing: "Jesus, lover of my soul," was sung, and Smith, after mounting the scaffold, made a brief speech, in which he reaffirmed his history of the killing of Sackett. He said he had no malice against Sackett, and if Sackett had quit going with his girl, as he promised, there would have been no trouble. He manifested an almost stoic calmness on the scaffold, never wincing for a moment, and died without a struggle. His remains were sent this afternoon to Baltimore, where he formerly resided. The execution was witnessed by about 150 persons.

☞ It is stated that the Knoxville Whig is to be resurrected, under the auspices of the Brownlow family, with Col. B. as managing editor. The necessary arrangements are said to be making, and the paper is expected to be well under way before the commencement of the next State and Congressional canvass.

☞ The Louisville Courier-Journal says Heloise has sent us a number of poems, which we have been force to decline publishing, and now she writes: say: "You have rejected my poetry because you do not love me." Do not love thee, "HELOISE!"

Adorable wench—perdition catch my boots But I do love thee! and when I love thee not, Chaos has come again!

"THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE," ETC.

At the inquest in Newark over the body of a young man named Nodler, who, with his cousin named Edward Buehler, was found suffering from the effects of paints, it was discovered that both were in love with the same woman, a young widow, and as two could not marry her, and one did not wish to deprive the other of her possession, both agreed to commit suicide, and Nodler succeeded.

THE NEW YORK PRESS ON THE WALWORTH TRIAL.

Neither young Walworth's countenance nor demeanor underwent any change after the delivery of the verdict. The prevailing impression here was that he would be acquitted.

The Tribune says: "Never within the memory of this generation has any great criminal issue been so promptly and satisfactorily tried in New York."

The World says: "The severity of the verdict indicates that the reaction of the mawkish pity, which has, for so long a time bore away in the jury boxes, has began."

The Times says: "The moral effect of the verdict was needed, and an acquittal would have been an invitation to every youth having a dissolute and tyrannical father to whip him."

After alluding to the array of prominent defenders of prisoners and the science generally attending the trial, the Herald says: "The wonder is that Justice herself was not blind on this occasion, but acutely true to be protected and, however cruel or brutal, the trial was conducted in the most exemplary and dignified manner.

Our Policy About Cholera.

The course in publishing the first case of cholera occurring in Atlanta is warmly approved. Many of our most eminent physicians and merchants have taken occasion to assure us of the fact. A few, we are sorry to say, think that the matter ought to have been suppressed. It is difficult to conceive how any sensible man can advance such an opinion.

Prompt publication accomplishes two great results. First, it prevents the circulation of false or malicious reports, based upon wild rumors, which always exist, where facts are suppressed. This is the only course to preserve our business interest from damage, as the minds of our own people will be at ease, and purchasers at a distance being in possession of facts will feel no perplexities arising from the effect of lying rumors and uncertain reports. Secondly, it will urge our people to observe more particularly those rules of diet and cleanliness which prevent disease. We, therefore, in the most emphatic manner, reaffirm our unalterable determination to publish, and publish promptly, every case of cholera, its character and attendant circumstances, if any occurs. If, therefore, no record appears in the morning's CONSTITUTION, our people may feel morally assured that no case has occurred up to a late hour of the preceding night, or it has escaped the knowledge of our reporters. The truth and the whole truth shall be told. It is the true, the best policy—best for ourselves, and best for those, who, though not of us, are likewise entitled to facts.

We desire also to reiterate our opinion that Atlanta will not have a single local case of cholera. Cholera never visits cities situated as Atlanta is. We are upon too high an elevation, with our pure air and freestone waters, to be attacked by a disease whose general history proves that it travels along the line of low water courses and in limestone countries.

Persons infected with cholera may come here and die; but the disease will not spread—a fact proven in 1866.

It is proper to say in reference to the case mentioned yesterday, that the lady reached Atlanta from Chattanooga on Sunday instead of Saturday afternoon, and died Wednesday night.

Brevities.

A movement is on foot to repeal the bankrupt act at the next session of Congress.

The larger Northern cities are organizing charity excursions for indigent parents and their little ones. Large parties of them go out from the hot reeking streets to enjoy the cool sea breezes or the beauties of rural scenery.

Ante-bellum corn prices were reached a few days ago in Chicago. No. 2 corn sold at 27 cents a bushel, cash, which is the lowest quotation in that market for twelve years. Such prices will soon teach the farmers of the Northwest the practicability of our cheap water route to a seaboard market.

At the recent billiard tournament in New York the best runs and averages were as follows:

The Player	Best Average.	Best Runs
Dion	10 5-7	77	75	71
Daly	9 21-21	63	54	50
[illegible]arnier	12	113	86	63

In a class of twenty-four she led them all. The average age was twenty-four; but Miss H. went on record as nineteen.

The new "City of Chester," of the Cunard line, will be due in a few days. She is the largest steamer in the world with the exception of the Great Eastern, and is said to be one of the finest specimens of naval architecture afloat. The vessel is 450 feet long over all, 44 feet in beam, and 33 feet in depth, her tonnage being 5,000; nominal horse power 850, but capable of being worked up to 4,950.

The Savannah Advertiser wants the postal carriers to file their bonds. It seems that a molasses colored carrier of New Orleans, who moved in the best political and civil-service circles, has bagged a large amount of money from the letters entrusted to him for delivery. He had a strong predisposition for three-card monte and pin pool. It is not a matter that Atlantians, as such, have a personal interest in; for our promised free delivery lives only in words.

Hon. Allen G. Thurman, so says the Cincinnati Commercial, is to be the Democratic candidate for Governor in Ohio this fall, with a view, not to gubernatorial honors, but to being his own successor in the Senate. He successfully accomplished the feat six years ago. The Lynchburg, Virginia, Republican says that the people of his native State watch with pride his splendid advance to the front rank of American statesmen. Mr. Thurman was a Lynchburger.

Prince Bismarck has secured an appropriation of 17,700 thalers, "in case it is wanted," to maintain a German Ambassador at the Papal Court. He is desirous of showing all due respect to the feelings of German Catholics, and the appropriation helps to establish possibilities of reconciliation. The Chancellor says his government will exercise no influence on the election of a successor to Pius IX, but his credentials must be thoroughly legitimate before he can exercise any Papal authority in the German Empire.

After an exciting contest, the board of visitors of the University of Virginia, near Charlottesville, have elected Noah K. Davis, President of Bethel College, Kentucky, to be professor of moral philosophy. The new Professor, who is an earnest Baptist, graduated at Mercer University, Georgia, and at Yale. He was recommended in the strongest terms by John S. Broadus, the professors of seven Southern colleges, and a host of leading citizens and scholars.

The Greatest Circulation of Any Journal in North Georgia.

We are Ready to Prove it.

We have had for years standing at the head of our columns a claim to the largest circulation in Georgia. We put this forth in good faith. Our claim is now disputed. As long as we were not challenged to silent. Our assertion, we concluded to [illegible]efully avoided readers know that we have, wholly eschewed all journalistic controversies to any of our [illegible]ing all unpleasant brethren, who might Georgia journalize question of circulation differ with us. We believe our silence has or any other[illegible]ally understood, that no other been so [illegible] of it is necessary.

[illegible]explain some persons, and among them a few [illegible]rs, think that the time has come for us [illegible]speak. And we have determined to do so. If, therefore, any one can be be found to contest our claim at the head of this article, we shall give him a chance to show, and that speedily, his faith by his works. This matter must be settled. At least, we shall show our willingness to settle it—to settle it at once, and in a manner perfectly conclusive.

We want no newspaper controversy, and will have none. We propose in the utmost good faith and good humor to give any one an opportunity to prove that THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION has not the circulation claimed.

We assert the correctness of these three propositions:

1. The Atlanta Sun, when turned over to the Constitution, had about four thousand subscribers.

2. That the Constitution has the largest circulation up to date, or July 1st, 1873

3. That the Constitution had the largest circulation before it received the Sun's subscribers.

Upon this basis we hereby CHALLENGE an investigation. This investigation shall be conducted in legal form; evidence to be taken under oath, books produced, and the testimony of Messrs. McNaught, Ormond, [illegible]or paper manufacturers and pressmen to be procured, and any other testimony desired by the parties; that the decision be left to four referees, equally selected by the parties, these referees to select a fifth, if necessary; some judicial officer or eminent lawyer of this city to preside over the examination, which is to be in public, and for that purpose conducted in some large hall. We agree to pay all expenses thus incurred.

Further: As we intend no child's play, in order to insure a contest in good faith, we shall this morning hand to the Hon. John H. James, Banker, the sum of five thousand dollars to be forfeited, if we fail to make good the propositions stated. Any person whatsoever desiring to controvert them may do so by depositing a like or smaller sum, not less than one thousand, to be forfeited if our propositions are established. Provided, that the money forfeited is to be given to the Young Men's Library Association or some charitable institution seclected by the successful party. We do this simply as we do not desire to enter into any betting.

Lastly, if this plan does not suit we will accept any other proposed that will secure an immediate settlement of this question.

We now iterate, that we want no newspaper controversy about this matter. That kind of controversy cannot settle it. Only an investigation of books and parties can possibly do it. For that investigation we "announce ready"—an investigation which, we believe, will show the public the circulation of THE CONSTITUTION double any other.

Our proposition is open for the rest of this week.

Postal Reforms.

Mr. Creswell is said to be jubilant in his hour of victory. He has beat the privileges of Congress, and the last franked package has been crowded into the mail bags. After all, says the Postmaster General, the expense of transporting the dead-head packages was not the main objection to the franking system. Neither did the printing of thousands upon thousands of costly but worthless documents, which the system induced, come within his proper cognizance. But he did complain that it was impossible to have the mails swiftly and surely carried and distributed while a system lasted under which, without warning or regularity, tons of matter could be thrown on the postal service, deranging existing plans and contracts, and inducing a dangerous disrepect in the employees of the department for mail matter generally.

It is now the intention of the Postmaster General to make the transmission and delivery of large low-rated matter as swift and certain as that of the higher-rated sealed packages. The routes and various processes are to be shortened and simplified; the letter carriers are to be increased; new post and money order offices will be speedily established; and special attention will be directed to the bettering of the railway service, which is the chief medium of postal communication. In short, the Postmaster General declares that he will bring the postal service closer up than ever to the business and social needs of the people, if the latter stand out against any and all attempts to restore the franking nuisance. He will thus prepare the way for the next great progressive step on the way of popular communication—postal telegraphy.

The Mother as a Hair-Cutter.

You can always tell a boy whose mother cuts his hair. Not because the edges of it look as if it had been chewed off by an absent-minded horse, but you tell it by the way he stops on the street and wriggles his shoulders. When a fond mother has to cut her boy's hair she is careful to guard against any annoyance and muss by laying a sheet on the carpet. It has never yet occurred to her to sir him over a bare floor and put the sheet around his neck. Then she draws the front hair over his eyes and leaves it there while she cuts that which is at the back. The hair which lies over his eyes appears to be surcharged with electric needles, and that which is silently dropping down under his shirt-band appears to be on fire. She has unconsciously continued to push his head forward until his nose presses his breast, and is too busily engaged to notice the anuffling sound that is becoming alarmingly frequent. In the mean time he is seized with an irresistible desire to blow his nose, but recollects that his handkerchief is in the other room. Then a fly lights on his nose, and does it so unexpectedly that he involuntarily dodges, and catches the points of the shears in his left ear. At this he commences to cry and wish he was a man. But his mother doesn't notice him. She merely hits him on the other ear to inspire confidence, and goes on with the work. When she is through she holds his jacket collar back from his neck, and with her mouth blows the short bits of hair from the top of his head down his back. He calls her attention to this fact, but she looks for a new place on his head and hits him there, and asks him why he didn't use his handkerchief. Then he takes his awfully disfigured head to the mirror and looks at it, and, young as he is, shudders as he thinks of what the boys on the street will say.—Danbury News Man.

☞ What was the result of the trial of that horse-dealer?" asked a Missourian of his neighbor. "Oh, he was left hanging in suspense," was the reply.

☞ An Alabama lawyer, defending a murderer, spoke nineteen consecutive hours, but the jury convicted the client in seven minutes.

☞ A grocer asked an artist: "Is sculpture difficult?" The artist replied: "Why, bless you no. You have only to take a block of marble and chisel, and knock off all the marble you don't want.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Epidemic in Nashville as Seen by an Eye Witness.

NASHVILLE, June 29.

Editors Constitution: Looking over the Union and American the other day, I noticed a clipping from THE CONSTITUTION signed by A. G. Haygood. Now, to begin with, I will not charge the writer with giving false statements; but I do say that the writer had not posted himself with the real facts of the cholera in this city. If he had taken a little trouble of going around and learning the facts, he would surely not have estimated the mortality so lightly. He says the reports of the papers are the only reports to be relied on. Now, I don't think so, for this reason; those reports are only made up by the reporters going around to the different undertakers and sextons in the city, and from them they make out their reports. In this they do not get the correct list of mortalities. The lists are certainly correct as far as the whites are concerned, and also as to those negroes who are able to pay for a coffin to bury in; but if he had gone to a certain negro settlement, called New Bethel, he would have found that negroes died by the score, and were buried in boxes of any kind, and even without any box or covering of any kind, and that in most cases they were just barely put under the ground and this will be found to be the case in the western end of our city, and also in other portions. I will give one fact. In New Bethel there lived a negro, his wife and two children. His wife was taken sick with the cholera; the husband became panic stricken and ran away, leaving his wife and two children in the house alone; and when they were found two days afterward all were dead. There was another case in the same locality of seven dying in one house, and the others who lived there shut up the house and went off and left them. The case was reported, and when the bodies were removed disinfectants had to be used to approach them, so great was the stench.

A number of the negroes were buried in trenches by their friends, who were not able to bury them in any other way, so great was their number.

Mr. Haygood's letter gives one extract from THE CONSTITUTION that I partly indorse, for in times past you could hardly go on the streets without being elbowed about on account of the number of persons one met. Now, and ever since the "prevailing," how is it? Why, you may possibly meet one or two men on each square, with the exception of the square around the Maxwell, and even there one will exclaim, "What a difference! Where are all the people?"

The present visitation of cholera is the worst that has ever visited this city—far greater than in 1866; for, by the paper reports of that year, the highest daily mortality reached 70; in the reports of our papers this year, it has reached 79, and then not all reported. Then, in 1866, there were about 60,000 souls in the city (many, of course, leaving) but we will say about 30,000 remained in the city for the "prevailing" to feed upon, and I am of the same opinion of your senior editor, that at least two-thirds of the citizens of this place have fled; by the census will be seen that this city has 25,000 population, but I set it down at 35,000 as the correct population, and two-thirds of them leaving, of course only leaves a little over 11,500 in the city to-day, and that only leaves half the number this year, compared with that of 1866, for the cholera to feed upon. Judging by that, I say that it is by far the most disastrous visitation Nashville has ever experienced. But by the exertions of our learned physicians and assisted by the Robertson Association, the city authorities, etc., the disease is abating, and before many days I hope the telegraph will inform you that the "prevailing" is no more. TYPO.

A Remarkable Prophecy.

The following which is known as "Mother Shipton's Prophecy," was first published in 1641. All the events predicted in it, except that mentioned in the last two lines—which is still in the future—have already come to pass:

Carriages without horses shall go,
And accidents fill the world with woe;
Around the world thoughts shall fly
In the twinkling of an eye.
Water shall yet more wonders do
Now strange, yet shall be true,
The world upside down shall be,
And gold be found at root of tree;
Through hills man shall ride,
And no horse or ass be at his side.
Under the water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, shall talk.
In the air men shall be seen,
In white, in black, in green.
Iron in the water shall float
As easy as a wooden boat.
Gold shall be found, and found
In a land that's not now known.
Fire and water shall wonders do;
England shall at last admit a Jew.
The world to an end shall come
In eighteen hundred and eighty-one.

Twelve Deaths in Chattanooga.

The Epidemic Disappearing from Nashville.

Cholraic News from all Quarters.

The Constitution Special from Chattanooga.

CHATTANOOGA, July 3, 1873.

The weather has been extremely hot today. The epidemic has not raged so bad as on the day before. Twelve deaths have been reported. Will not undertake to say that there has not been a few more. Not many new cases are reported to night.

LOOKOUT.

BY MAIL.

Twenty-three interments on Tuesday in Nashville, of which sixteen were from cholera. The latter were equally divided between the whites and the blacks.

The rage of the pestilence really seems to be broken in Nashville. Very few new cases are of late reported. About 800 have died of the disease.

Memphis reports fifteen interments on Tuesday, of which eight were choleraic.

The Catholic priests of Memphis have not only given their congregations permission to eat meat Friday, but recommend it as necessary to health during the prevalence of the cholera.

The Grand Jury has found over three hundred indictments against all classes of citizens for penalty nuisances. A general clearing up of yards and alleys is going on.

The Gallatin Examiner says:

Unless our distant readers were here, they could not fully appreciate the difficulties of publishing a newspaper in a town with the pestilence stalking upon every street. With a disorganized force, and amid the awful scenes of death on every hand; in the almost painful quiet of our streets, only broken by the rattle of hearses, we have managed to issue daily bulletins of the progress of the epidemic, as well as a half sheet of our weekly to our subscribers. We trust that an abatement will soon occur, and that we may be enabled to resume work fully. In the meantime, we only ask our subscribers to "put themselves in our place" for the past month.

Evansville, Indiana, is suffering severely. Five died in one boarding house.

Five deaths in Paducah, Ky., on Sunday; and seven in Franklin, Ky., on Tuesday, including Dr. Suddorth, one of the oldest practitioners in the city.

EARTHQUAKE.

FLORENCE, July 3.—A dispatch from Belluno, fifty-one miles north of Venice says that shocks of an earthquake were felt in this country this morning. A volcano near Naira, a town ten miles from Belluno, which has been quiet for some time, commenced an eruption, and the water of a lake in that vicinity boiled.

ENGLAND.

TO-MORROW.

LONDON, July 3.—American residents in London will celebrate the 97th anniversary of the declaration of independence of the United States, by a dinner at Langham Hotel to-morrow.

BATTLE IN ARIZONA.

Fourteen Men Killed.

MURDERERS OVERTAKEN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Advices from Arizona state that Lieut. Babcock, with fifty cavalry, who was sent in pursuit of the murderers of Lieut. Aliry, overtook them in the mountains and compelled them to fight. During the engagement fourteen were killed and six captured. Two of Babcock's Indian aides were wounded.

RACES.

Nell Flaherty won the first mile and repeat running race at Sacramento yesterday; time—1:44¾, 1:45, 1:47¼. Thornhill won the the first heat.

ITALY.

THE MINISTRY.

ROME, July 3.—The crisis in the Ministry continues. Minghetta has failed to form a Cabinet, and the King has summoned Count de Cambran Digny to undertake the task.

SPAIN.

THE SITUATION IMPROVING.

MADRID, July 3—In consequence of the passage of a bill abolishing constitutional guarantees, the "irreconcilable" Carlist have withdrawn from the Cortes, which action has served to restore quiet in Madrid. Detachments of troops, however, are yet posted at various points throughout the city, and the utmost precautions have been taken by the authorities for the suppression of disturbances.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

TROUBLE WITH THE INDIANS.

A Number Killed.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—The Secretary of Interior to-day received the following from Governor Campbell, of Wyoming:

I spent yesterday at Rawlins, and found in relation to the trouble with the Indians, that on the 27th ult., that a boy with a team came into Rawlins slightly wounded and reported that he had been shot by Indians. A party of ten citizens started in pursuit and on the morning of the 28th, overtook a band of 23 Indians, from whom they demanded two horses which they recognized as belonging to citizens. The Indians refused to give them up and a fight ensued. The party returned to Rawlins with eleven ponies and one rifle captured from Indians, of whom they report several killed and wounded, one of the whites were injured. Cannot tell until agent Littlefield is heard from whether the affair will lead to any further trouble with the Utes.

NEW YORK.

EXCESSIVE HEAT.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The heat to-day exceeded any before during the summer. The thermometer this evening ranged from 97 to 98 in the shade.

KIDNAPPED.

Three families bound to Chicago arrived here recently from Germany, and were kidnapped and sent to North Carolina, where, after working a month at the roughest farm work, escaped and begged their way back here. They found tickets in possession of the officers of the Board of Emigration which had been sent them from friends in Chicago. Mayor Havemeyer is investigating the case.

NOT SATISFIED.

The Express says that great indignation was expressed against the government to-day by the Union Pacific bondholders when they collected their interest.

Durran & Flood were convicted of illicit distilling at Spring Valley to-day, and sentenced to three years imprisonment and a fine of $1,000 each.

AMERICANS IN PERU.

Their Wants not Looked After.

Neglect of Ministers.

PANAMA, June 24—A letter from Lima, dated June 13th, says the present position of Americans in Peru is as anamolous as unprecedented.

Mr. Thomas, the Plenipotentiary of the United States, has studiously declined, since his assumption of this dignity, all effort of making himself acquainted with the condition or wants of his countrymen in this republic. He recently left his legation ostensibly for a trip to Cala, and carefully ignoring the rights of Col. Williamson, the Counsel at Callao, and an officer whose proceedings have always met with the approval of his government, to hold the vacant post during Mr. Thomas' absence, resigned the charge of the legation to a private Secretary, who possesses no diplomatic character whatever, being a simple employee of Mr. Thomas.

The notorious steamer, Virginius, is again in the harbor of Aspinwall.

A Spanish Man-of-War entered the port on the 21st inst., and on the same day also the United States steamer, Kansas. What the mission of the Spanish vessel is has not transpired, but the Kansas, it will be remembered, is the same ship which over a year ago conveyed the Virginius out of port from under the guns of the Spanish frigates.

The Virginius is undergoing repairs, and it is understood that the Kansas will remain until the repairs are completed.

The Cuban General Quesada is still in Aspinwall.

Hon. J. Thorington, lately appointed United States Consul to Aspinwall, on applying to Bogota for the usual exequatur, was refused on the ground that the government of Colombia recognized no such place as Aspinwall, only that of Colon. Secretary Fish, on being informed of the refusal, appointed Thorington Commercial Agent at Aspinwall with the powers of Consul, requiring no exequatur.

The steamer Benicia was in Mazatlan on the 12th, and was to sail in two days for Panama direct.

The United States steamer Omaha will have this port for the south coast on the 25th.

Palacios and his followers are marching on to Gautemala, and if they succeed in entering that territory in two or three day's march they are almost certain to overthrow the existing Government of President Barrior, and of the re-establishment of that of the Jesuits or church party.

FILLIBUSTERS.

Protest of the Insurance Agents.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 3d, 1873.—At a meeting of the Life and Fire Insurance Agents of the city of Atlanta, held at 3 o'clock, p. m., to-day, in the office of the Georgia Life Insurance Company, to consider the recent tax act of the City Council in its bearing on Insurance Companies represented here. A large number of Agents were present.

The following resolution offered by Mr. Choate was unanimously adopted, viz:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the tax of one per cent. on the gross receipts and license tax of One Hundred Dollars, lately imposed on Insurance Companies doing business in the city of Atlanta, by the Mayor and Council, is in our opinion illegal, unjust and oppressive;

And a committee was appointed to present the above resolution to the Mayor and Council, and to protest against the tax referred to.

THE COURTS.

The Court of Ordinary.

The charge of lunacy preferred by John Jenkins against his wife, allusion to which was made in yesterday's paper, came up before the Ordinary again yesterday for argument. After some consultation the case was again postponed. Mr. A. B. Culberson represents the husband, and J. T. Finley, Esquire, the wife.

Station House Sports.

Business with the police yesterday was painfully dull. The hot weather kept rogues in the shade. One gentleman was cuyed for public indecency, and another for disorderly conduct, but these were all.

There was a State arrest. Frank Sims, colored and long afflicted with kleptomania, departed with $30 belonging to Mr. J. J. Ford, the carriage manufacturer. Frank didn't depart very far before the loss was discovered and he was brought to grief. The chaingang won't stand in need of his services very long.

MR. FINNEY'S CARRIAGE MANUFACTORY. Yesterday afternoon we called in at the carriage factory of Mr. A. T. Finney. Among the various specimens of fine workmanship we saw around us, we were particularly struck with an "extension top brett." This exquisite specimen of workmanship was made therefrom at Mr. Finney's establishment, and would reflect credit upon any carriage factory, not only here, but in the North. This vehicle is all ready mounted, the seats covered with the finest leather, and all of its parts, wheels, springs, body, and everything in fact, is made of the best material and in the most workmanly manner. It can either be used as an open carriage or so covered up as to defy the heaviest rain. We also observed quite a variety of other elegant conveyances.

TURTLE SOUP.—A green sea turtle, weighing 310 pounds, came per express yesterday for T. M. Byrd. Whether "Bud" intends to keep it for a pet or intends to have turtle soup, we have not yet received definite information.

DEKALB COUNTY BIBLE SOCIETY.—The anniversary of DeKalb county Bible society takes place on Sunday next, at eleven o'clock, in the Methodist Church. The annual address will be delivered by Rev. W. A. Parks, Bible Agent.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The enterprising firm of West & Edwards will soon commence the erection of a three-story brick building at the corner of Line and Pryor streets. It will have ninety feet front and a depth of one hundred feet. Success to them.

COTTON BLOOM.—And now comes Crawford Monroe, colored, with a large cotton bloom. Crawford has several acres of cotton near the city, and it is very promising. The first bloom was observed on June 27th.

W. J. MCCOLLOUGH, for six or seven years a newsdealer on the Georgia Railroad, is now running on the Atlanta and West Point Railroad. He is indefatigable and wide-awake.

GRADING OF MCDONOUGH STREET.—We sincerely trust that Council, now the work has been determined upon, will push forward the grading of McDonough street. Let there be no delay. The work should be done immediately.

YESTERDAY was a hot day. The thermometer was, at 5 o'clock 92 degrees in the shade. Several grease spots on the pavement mark the place where a fat man was last seen.

PARADE GROUND.—The public square between Alabama street and the railroad has been fenced in and the square graded and rolled. It presents a fine field for the "Cadets" and "Zouaves" to drill in.

THIS is the Jourth day of Fuly! Get up early this morning and take a bath at Thompson's bathing rooms; keep cool during the morning and then take one of Thompson's fine dinners. Then cool off on his ice cream. Don't drink too much beer for.

ATLANTA MEDICAL AND SURGICAL JOURNAL.—The June number is well filled with original and selected matter of great interest to professional readers. It is ably edited by Drs. J. P. Logan and W. F. Westmoreland, with their staff of corresponding and associate editors.

CHANGE OF SCHEDULE.—The schedule of the Macon and Western Railroad will on and after Sunday be changed.

Down mail train—leave Atlanta	1:20 A. M.
Arrive at Macon	7:00 A. M.
Leave Macon at	11:00 A. M.
Arrive at Atlanta	5:30 P. M.
Down passenger—leave Atlanta at	1:50 P. M.
Arrive at Macon at	7:00 P. M.
Leave Macon at	11:10 P. M.
Arrive in Atlanta at	5:50 A. M

QUITE A STIR.—The full account of the only case of cholera (and that brought from Chattanooga) appearing in THE CONSTITUTION yesterday, created a great stir in the city. Both our morning and afternoon editions were exhausted. Many of our prominent citizens warmly commended THE CONSTITUTION's course, declaring that it would prevent all uneasiness among our people, and that it tended to allay any anxiety on the subject. Nobody here has any idea that cholera will prevail in this city. We are glad to see that our hotels are receiving summer boarders from a distance.

Return of Thanks.

The members of Capitol Lodge No. 60 of Odd Fellows desire to return their thanks to the committee of arrangements for their tasteful and indeed beautiful decoration of the hall. The committee is composed of J D Holmes, chairman; J Gordon, J B Goodwin, J L Griffin.

These gentlemen were assisted by Mrs Otto Gariche and Miss Minnie Allen, who made a number of wreaths and boquets. The hall presented as fine an appearance as any we have ever seen, and reflected much credit upon the ladies and gentlemen who decorated it.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Merchants ask Council to Rescind the Second Section of the New Tax Ordinance and go Back to the Old Rule.

The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held last night at their hall, Major B. R. Crane, President, in the chair.

The second section of the new tax ordinance was discussed elaborately by Messrs. J. A. Dunn, A. C. Wyly, B. P. Chamberlin and others.

Mr. A. C. Wyly offered a resolution asking the City Council to rescind the second section of the new tax ordinance, which was adopted.

A committee consisting of Messrs. B. P. Chamberlin, A. C. Wyly, J. A. Dunn, Mark W. Johnson, and E. W. Marsh, were appointed to present the action of the Chamber to the Council and request the rescinding of the second section.

Burke & Co.'s Atlanta Book Store.

The name, Atlanta, in a business point of view has almost became a synonym with enterprise and energy owing to its rapid progress and its almost magical growth.

We were reminded of this great progress by seeing the sign of J. W. Burke & Co., Booksellers and Stationers, on the corner of Alabama and Whitehall streets, at W. L. Wadsworth & Co.'s old stand. This old and reliable firm show great appreciation of this city by making this effort now in the dull month of June, with a long, dry summer ahead of them, yet they have sagacity sufficient to see money in the enterprise ahead. They know how to esteem a place like this, and feel that the field is large and rich enough for all.

The well known character of the house at Macon, which is one of the largest and best conducted establishments in the Southern States, is sufficient guarantee for fair and honorable dealing. Their various and popular publications have found their way extensively into this part of the country.

They are now opening on the corner of Alabama and Whitehall very fine stocks of books and stationery. Their stock of standard, miscellaneous, religious and school books is now good, and we learn that these is much more to come. In blank books, (full bound) pass books, memorandum books, wrapping paper, ink, mucilage, twines and staple stationery for the wholesale and retail trade they are fully prepared.

We notice they have a great variety of new and beautiful fancy goods, small wares and notions. While they expect to do a large jobbing business, they will, by no means, neglect the wants of the retail trade.

We notice that they are very much crowded for room at present, but learn that W. L. Wadsworth & Co. will soon vacate the other side of the store then occupied by Messrs. J. W. B. & Co., will have room enough to store and display their goods.

The business here will be managed by Mr. Frank G. Hancock, of Macon, a member of the firm, who understands the business. All that we need say to such men is, that they are successful, and, therefore, he takes charge of the Atlanta branch of the house of Burke & Co.

OUR COLLEGES.

MERCER.

Griffin Female College Commencement—Commencement Sermon—Medal Baccalaureate—Col. Hardeman's Address—Musical Festival.

GRIFFIN, Ga., July 3, 1873.

Editors Constitution: Your well known interest in all the educational affairs of Georgia prompts me to send you a short notice of our commencement.

The commencement sermon was preached by Rev. Morgan Callaway on last Sunday. Learnedly and eloquently he told of the knowledge of God which by His Spirit had been with men from the beginning even when deepest sunk in Paganism. Dr. C. made a strong impression upon the people here by his sermon.

EXAMINATIONS.

Monday and Tuesday were devoted to the examination of the college classes. All did remarkably well in this and showed the severe training through which they had passed during the term. They were questioned in all parts of the works they had studied, and with the utmost firmness. While all did well I will make special mention of the Sophomore class—36 in number. They were examined in Rhetoric, Botany, Algebra and Latin, and in all failed to answer a very few of the questions asked. On Wednesday, the 2d, was the presentation of the graduating class. They all read essays. The following is a copy of the programme:

Miss Rabilia Wilkerson, Alabama—"A mask of gold hides all deformities."

Miss Beatrice Farmer, Dawson, Georgia—"Remove not the beacon light, purchase your bark in my drift that way."

Miss Mamie Potts, Atlanta, Georgia—"For us all some sweet hope lies deeply buried from human eyes."

Miss Clifford Joesey, Griffin,—
"The rarest gems and the purest gold,
On a brow of care lie heavy and cold."

Miss Victoria Costlar, Griffin—"Few things are wonderful that are not distant."

Miss Mollie Richardson, Griffin—"That which will closest and longest cling is alone worth a serious thought."

Miss Fannie Sims, Griffin—"History the essence of Biography."

Miss Fannie Stevens, Griffin—
"Not a truth has to art or to science been given;
But brows have ached for it, and souls have toiled and striven."

Miss Clara Logan, Griffin—True Nobility.

Miss Julia McWilliams, Griffin—No Star ever Rose and Set, without Influence Somewhere.

Miss Minnie Brooks, Meriwether county—Perfection is but a Name for Decay.

Miss Octava Watson, South Carolina—Traces of Eden are Still to be Seen

Miss Roline Herndon, Virginia—Time's Discordant Notes Shall Close at Last in Harmony.

It was a class of fourteen fine-looking, intelligent, young ladies. Their appearance and essays reflects much credit upon their teachers.

The essays, as usual, were rather long and lengthened the exercises too much, but this was a fault which some excused and others bore with considerable patience. As a class, the College has a right to be proud of them.

BACCALAUREATE.

President A. B. Niles did what few do under such circumstances, viz: Made a very short Baccalaureate. It was very appropriate, and should be taken as a model by those who, on such occasions, seem to know not what to say nor when to stop.

By this time the dinner hour of many had passed. The aisles were filled with those whose appetites demanded their departure. It was an an inopportune time to introduce an orator.

COLONEL HARDEMAN'S ADDRESS.

But Hon. Thomas Hardeman, who was selected or "conscripted" to make the address, was equal to the occasion. His opening remarks arrested the stream of hungry men and women. If his address had been dull for only a few moments, he would have spoken to empty benches. He kept up the interest for three-quarters of an hour. His subject was woman's mission and the struggle she has to make against the world in order to develop the character demanded by the times.

The most interesting feature of the commencement was the anniversary exercises of the two literary and musical societies. Their appearance was splendid. The stage, beautifully decorated and well lighted, was covered with beauty.

THE PAREPA ROSA MUSICAL SOCIETY

was first praented by Miss Octavia Watson, in a short sketch of her after whom the society was named, and a brief report of what the society had done. The valedictory was read by the presiding lady, Miss Julia McWilliams.

Professor R. H. Goetchius, the orator of the occasion, was then introduced and delivered a short address on FASHION AND ITS INFLUENCES.

Some of his descriptions were extremely ludicrous and excited the laughter of the audience. His closing remarks represented the influence of woman and besought the young ladies of the societies to cultivate purity of character. The address was well received.

THE POLYMNIA SOCIETY

was then presented by the Secretary, Miss Fannie Mitchell. The "Improvisation of Corinne" on the occasion of her coronation, was then read by Miss Clara Logan. Her clear voice and distinct articulation kept silence in the hall during the reading.

THE VALEDICTORY

was read by Miss Annie Stark.

At this point a note was sent up requesting Miss Kehr, the accomplished daughter of the Professor of Music, to sing the "Gull of Gray," which she did, and raised a storm of enthusiastic applause.

THE NIGHTINGALE SOCIETY

was then presented by Miss Nora Skipper. Miss Fannie Sims read "Florence Nightingale," a poem by Mrs. Niles. She read remarkably well. Miss Eoline Herndon then read the valedictory.

The Music was furnished by the Parepa Rosa Society and was excellent.

The commencement exercises were completed last night. To night a party is given to the graduating class. The occasion, although there was, perhaps, the usual amount of "boring," passed away very pleasantly, and will long be remembered by all.

TONY P.

MERCER UNIVERSITY.

Annual Orations by the Societies.

Banquets, Speeches and Juniors.

MACON, Ga., July 2, 1873.

The annual orations to the societies connected with Mercer University were delivered yesterday morning, Mr. Freeman, of Newnan, Georgia, being the orator of the Phi Delta Society, and subject "Disgust inseparable from a cultivated taste." His address was written in chaste and well selected language, and delivered with ease and distinct enunciation.

Mr. Jackson, of Macon, Georgia, a slender, handsome young man, made a remarkably fine speech on "Cicero and his character" to the Ciceronean Society, and such charming sentences and grace in delivery marked him as one of rare talents, and give omen of a bright future with energy and application on his part.

Rev. J. G. Reab next proceeded to address the Alumni of the University, and the writer regrets that he did not have the pleasure of hearing this gentleman, so noted for his erudition and oratory.

At the conclusion of this last address several hundred gentlemen (why the ladies were excluded was not explained) of the Alumni, Faculty, Trustees, and visitors repaired to the elegant hall of Mayor Ruff—who is an honor to Macon and to Georgia—and about two o'clock the doors of the spacious dining room were thrown open, and revealed a delightful scene. We had feasted to satiety all above the diaphragm, and now—well, Epicurus himself would have spurned ambrosia and nectar, and chosen rather the groaning tables of Huff's Hall.

Let it be said that Bacchus was not worshipped, nothing stronger than lemonade being the inspiration of the six wisdom and sentiment of the orator, and consequently it is hoped that Colonel Jones, of the Telegraph and Messenger, will not encounter such difficulties in reporting the responses to toasts, as he did at the late dinner of the bar association, where fluids freely flowed, and ideas in same manner, and the speakers desired next day to appeal to Philip sober from Philip—"how come you so"—all resulting of the exuberance of animal spirits, and not malt.

President Butler, of the Board of Trustees, presided with ease and dignity, and managed the whole affair elegantly, and after the banquet, during which the band discoursed sweet music, feasting our ears, while rare delicacies feasted the coarser, but equally necessary department of man corporal, some brief speeches were made in response to certain toasts and sentiments by Messrs. Lawson, of Putnam; Bacon, of Bibb; G. R. Mc'all, Holt, of Bibb; A. J. Bock, Mr. Butler, Jr., Rev. Mr. Tharpe, a newly made D. D., J. W. Burke, Col. Blount, Dr. Mason, of Macon; Col. H. H. Jones, Mayor Huff, (where modesty equals his merit,) W. O. Tuggle and Rev. D. E. Butler. Most of the remarks were regarding the future of Macon, and doubtless, some good will result from the discussion. All were also impressed with the truth of "Owen Meredith's lines."

We may live without friends, we may live without books,
But civilized man cannot live without cooks.
We may live without books—what is knowledge but grieving?
We may live without hope—what is hope but deceiving.
We may live without love, what is passion but pining?
But where is the man that can live without dining.

At night occurred the junior exhibition, and the absence of that scholarly divine, Dr. J. Dixon, on account of sickness in his family, was regretted by all. Dr. Hillyer participated the pleasure of hearing one of his

The programme was as follows:

Inspiration of Necessity—Joseph H. Jones, P. D. S., Wilkes county, Georgia.

Patriotism in Humble Life—Horace M. Powers, O. S., Bibb county, Georgia.

Fate.

The Age in Which We Live—Charles E. Armstrong, C. S., Bibb county, Georgia.

Success all Jackson—James C. Hinton, C. S., Bibb county, Ga.

Energy a Condition of Success—Thomas U. Buttz, G. S., Edgefield county, Ga.

Music.

Little Things—De Le Sueur, C. S., Thomas county, Ga.

Dignity in Humiliation—Alexis A. Marshall C. S., Macon county, Ga.

And while all the speeches were very creditable indeed, those of J. H. Johes, of Atlanta, and Charles E. Armstrong, of Bibb county, were unusually excellent.

Hon. A. O. Bacon, did full justice to his well-known reputation, and after a brief address, replete with thought and clothed in choice and elegant language he delivered the Sophomore prize to Messrs. Keese and Cabaniss.

W. C. T.

It is a wonderful thing to observe the thorough acquaintance hotel men have with humanity. Owens, of the National, need but cast one glance at a gentleman from Old Virginia, before his genial countenance ripples out in a broad smile of pleasure, and then both "smile" together. Lunch-ed on stand at Whitehall counter and left a Monroe man getting off the train at the far end of the Passenger Depot. It is truly wonderful.

UNDINE LODGE KNIGHTS OF JERICHO.

Installation of Officers—Annual Reunion—Refreshments, Toasts, Speeches, etc.—What Progress is Being Made.

Last night, at their hall, corner of Marietta and Broad streets, Undine Lodge Knights of Jericho held their regular annual reunion and installation of incoming officers.

The occasion was one long to be remembered. There was a feast of reason and flow of soul, and every one seemed to take in the spirit of the occasion. The business began with the installation of the following officers:

Elijah Plummer, Chief; Miss L. K. Brigham, Lady Precepress; J. W. Wood, Chaplain; C. B. Thrasher, Secretary; I. F. Walker, Treasurer; F. M. Brigham, Marshal; Wm. J. Warlick, Herald; Wm. Flynn, Sentinel.

At the conclusion of these interesting proceedings a committee of fair ladies waited upon the Lodge with cake, lemonade, ice cream, etc., which was partaken of with a relish. During these interesting proceedings the Lodge was entertained with a very fine speech by Mr. Shropshire, who spoke of the early days of Undine Lodge, its growth and other good it had accomplished in this growth. He said every member had an influence, more or less good, and they should make that influence felt.

Mr. Lou. L. Parham was then called upon. He began by saying he was no speech-maker; some times drove the quill—if he possessed any forte it was that of writing. But he would say he was glad to speak a word or two to Undine Lodge, especially so, since the members had been so courteous and kind to him on this his first visit. He hoped the beautiful lesson taught by their imposing ceremonies, and the good cause in which they were engaged would never permit Undine to become lax in their duties—ever remembering that he who takes the solemn obligation of a Knight of Jerico had a responsibility important, nay, grand. Go on with the good work.

The remarks of the speakers were well received.

Past Chief Aid Langston, after a few interesting attempts to get the Lodge to order, offered a toast, which had the desired effect. It was to the united efforts of Undine Lodge and THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION to accomplish as much good in the future as in the past, etc

Responded to by Mr. Parham.

The newly installed officers were then each toasted and responded to in pleasant and happy words.

When this reporter left, the members of Undine Lodge were enjoying themselves hugely over the refreshments. Long may Undine live and flourish.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.

Public Installation of Officers of Capitol Lodge No. 60—Interesting Addresses.

The public installation of officers of Capitol Lodge No. 60 took place at their lodge room corner of Mitchell and Broad streets last night.

The room was beautifully decorated with ever greens and flowers, and there was quite a number of the members of other lodges present.

Deputy District Grand Master John Gramling, assisted by W Gramling, Grand Marshal; R J Maynard, Grand Warden; W Gramling, Jr, G W Secretary; J E Holmes, Grand Permanent Secretary, and Lewis H Clarke, G W Treasurer, representing the Grand Lodge, were present, and installed the following officers:

John F Morris, Noble Grand; Martin Cooley, Vice Grand; J B Goodwin, Recording Secretary; J Graefer, Permanent Secretary; G T Ogletree, Treasurer.

The Noble Grand appointed the following officers:

R D L Mobley, Warden; J Gordon, Conductor; W Keltner, Outside Guardian; Otto Garriche, Inside Guardian; J C Rogers, R H Supporter: D Terry, L H Supporter A C Runyan, Right Scene Supporter; J L Griffin, Left Scene Supporter.

The Vice Grand appointed as his right hand supporter A. P. Bailey, and as his left hand supporter J. W. Smith.

The Deputy District Grand Master addressed the officers on the duties of their respective positions, after which the Grand Lodge retired.

The Noble Grand, John F. Morris, in a chaste and handsome speech returned thanks for the honor conferred, pledging himself to the full discharge of his duty to the best of his ability.

Interesting remarks were made by Deputy District Grand Master Gramling, Grand Marshal Gramling, Mr. Maynard, Mr. Holmes and J. T. Cooper.

The Secretary, J. B. Goodwin, in response to a call delivered a well prepared speech, chaste in sentiment, and strong in facts. It was logical and eloquent.

The occasion passed off with eclat. Capitol Lodge is in a high'y prosperous condition and with its fine corps of officers is bound to go on prospering and to prosper. It is a CAPITAL LODGE.

CHOLERA.

Suggestions on the Subject and Strong Approval of The Constitution.

Editors Constitution: In your issue of yesterday morning, you announce "A genuine case of cholera" in this city.

Of the correctness of your report, none can doubt, and for your promptitude the well-informed will be grateful.

Having passed through two epidemics of this formidable disease in San Francisco, California, and one in Galveston, Texas, (but we won't say an epidemic) it has occurred to me that I may contribute, in some degree, to the protection of health and life in Atlanta and other cities, by a few brief statements and remarks, the results of experience and observations, in the presence of cholera.

Before proceeding, I desire to call special attention to the communication of Dr. C. H. Rauschenberg, in your paper of yesterday morning, under the head of "Cholera—Its Origin and Prevention." I regard this article as one of the best on the subject which it has been my privilege to read, whether in the books or out of them. It should be carefully studied by all, and especially by our city authorities. I do not mean to say that I unqualifiedly subscribe to all the Doctor's views, nor that other medical gentlemen in the city do not entertain the same general views, and perhaps in some respects, superior, on the subject of cholera, but still the information, practical views, suggestions and recommendations of the communication, are timely and full of importance. I cannot but doubt the propriety, the safety, at this season of the year, of disinterring the contents of privies and cess-pools, etc., and hauling them through the city, to some place or places outside. My judgment inclines me to recommend the utmost vigilance, first to prevent the accumulation of filth, animal or vegetable, and secondly, where there are such accumulations, let the city authorities, if need be, enforce the use of disinfectants and see to it, that sources of disease and death are all destroyed.

I do not hesitate to say that it is the duty of those in authority to inspect most rigidly and scrutinizingly every residence—lots, privies, back-yards, etc., in the city every few days, and, wherever necessary, enforce cleanliness. The city is, on the whole, in good condition, but there are, to my certain knowledge, some back-yards and lots full of filth, and which emit the most offensive gasses and odors. These and all similar cases should at once be corrected. Let there be no exceptions.

Having said this much on the foregoing points, I desire to remark further,

1st. That I have watched the course of cholera closely, since its first appearance in this country, and I have never known it prevail as an "epidemic" in a "free-stone" city or region of country; especially, away from large rivers and other bodies of water. It seems, (in this country at least,) chiefly confined to limestone regions.

It is true a number of deaths from cholera ocurred in Galveston, where only cistern water was used, but that city is located on an island in the Gulf of Mexico; besides, most of the cisterns there being of wood and above ground, much of the water is extremely impure; and yet, even there, almost every case of cholera was traceable to indiscretions of eating or drinking. I know whereof I write.

In San Antonio, Texas, one of the healthiest cities of the continent, cholera prevailed to a fearful extent, but the water is blue limestone water. Besides, the city was anything but cleanly. The population consists of about one-third Americans, one-third Germans and one-third Mexicans, with a few Irish, English and French. And yet, in San Antonio, the families who used good cistern water were comparatively exempt from the disease.

From the foregoing facts my firm conviction is that with proper cleanliness and prudence on the part of Atlanta, cholera will never prevail in her midst as an epidemic. At the same time, however, neglect of cleanliness and indulgence in improper habits and diet may bring this fearful scourge upon us.

2. I am perfectly satisfied from much observation that besides general and local cleanliness, the following rules ought to be strictly observed by all, and if necessary enforced by authority, and if this be done, all will be well: Avoid all stale vegetables, all fresh fruits, especially injured or unsound fruits, and still more especially fruits which have been long gathered (even black berries when soured) melons of every kind, cucumbers, green corn, iced water, particularly in large quantities, iced soda water, ice cream, pastry, unsound meats, especially fish, which have been some hours out of the water. Nothing is worse than unsound fish.

Avoid the use of brandy and other stimulants for the purpose of keeping off cholera. I have known several cases of cholera brought on, as was believed, by drinking liquor "to keep it off."

3. Once more. Don't be taking medicines to prevent cholera. They will damage in most cases.

4. Live prudently. Eat a plenty, not excessively, of good, sound food, good bacon, beef, mutton, snap-beans, boiled thoroughly done with bacon, rice, etc. Avoid excesses of all kinds. Keep out of the hot sun and night air.

5. If the stomach and bowels become deranged, send for your family physician and be properly treated at once. Don't tamper with medicines, or "specifics." There are no specifics. I am gratified in being able to say, in truth, that Atlanta has a large number of as eminent and skillful physicians as any city on the continent can boast. Let us trust them under providence and not the nostrums and "specifics" of "jobbers" and speculators in human health and life, and I will venture to repeat my conviction that cholera will not prevail here as an epidemic.

DISCIPLINE THE LIVER.—The liver is truly an "unruly member." Sometimes it is torpid and secretes too slowly, at other times it is unnaturally active and sends forth a perfect freshet of bile. Regulate this organ with Hostetter's Bitters, not with calomel or blue mass. Mineral excitants, in stimulating the liver, poison the blood, and their ultimate effect is terrible. The bitters, on the other hand, have a vitalizing and purifying, as well as a stimulating effect. They not only regulate the flow of bile, but infuse new life into the whole system. A good appetite and perfect digestion, a regular, natural habit of body, a sound condition of the nervous system, vivacity of spirits, increased bodily strength and power of endurance, and refreshing sleep are among the blessings they promote. The temperature of summer is a severe tax upon the digestive and secretive organs, and the bitters are never more indispensable than at this period of the year.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

How Gen. Gordon Saved Gen. Sheridan's Life.

Philadelphia Press Letter.

In Georgia I heard an incident in connection with Lieutenant General Sheridan, which Little Phil. will read with some surprise and lay down the paper with some grateful feelings toward the gallant soldier who saved his life. The night previous to the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, Gen. John B. Gordon, who commanded Stonewall Jackson's old corps, General Fitz Hugh Lee commanding the cavalry, and General Longstreet held a consultation with General R. E. Lee. At this consultation it was agreed that General Gordon should try the Federal strength on the following day. Sheridan was in command opposite Gordon. In accordance with the programme, made his demonstration the next day and was met by Sheridan's cavalry, repulsed, but finding Sheridan well supported by large numbers of infantry fell back and sent this intelligence to General R. E. Lee. Upon its receipt General Lee ordered the firing to cease, and displayed the white flag, under which the surrender was subsequently made. During the cessation of hostilities, and while Generals Grant and Lee were in consultation, General Sheridan, with a large retinue of officers and men—about one hundred in all—was seen approaching General Gordon's line. Of course this cavalcade, as it came dashing across the plain, challenged the attention of Gordon's entire force. Chancing to rank his head, General Gordon saw a man like Mississippian within a few yards of rifle deliberately training his gun. Gordon the approaching horseman and dashed at the information more rode him down, with "What do you mean, emphatic than refined Gordon; 'don't you sir'" thundered the by my order?' 'I know firing her,' replied Mississippi, as he knew, General up, "but I thought it were gathered h in again us, and I just sighted a ridge-b feller thar, and if you that s up I'd a fetched him from whar he was; and he's been a powerful heap of use to the Yanks."

That man was one of the best shots in the division, and never failed to kill his object when deliberate aim was had. Gordon turned to meet Sheridan, and Buchanan Read's hero has never known how near his life came to going out with the rebellion. General Gordon is now United States Senator from Georgia.

The Wheat Crop.

The following is the official report of the condition of the wheat crops: Winter wheat is mostly harvested. Of seven hundred and fifty-three counties from which reports have been received, 203 are above the average, 168 average and 381 below. Of 205 counties reporting spring wheat, 103 are above the average, 105 average and 68 below. The acreage of winter wheat is somewhat increased, though many fields were winter-killed and plowed up for spring wheat and other crops. The acreage of spring wheat is very largely increased, and especially in the Northwest it is unusually promising. The indications of the crop of 1873 are considered at least equal to those of June, 1872, when the department estimated the crops at 230,000,000 bushels. Subsequent conditions of growth raised the first estimate of the year in the annual report of 1872 (not yet published) to 249,197,020 bushels. With equally favorable conditions, the yield may be safely set down at 250,000,000 bushels. Insect ravages, however, are reported in spring wheat, and indicate serious loss in some localities.

OATS.

An increased acreage and an improved yield of oats are indicated in the majority of States. The maximum condition, 113, is found in Virginia, and the minimum, 83, in California.

RYE.

Twenty-four States report an increased and ten a decreased acreage of winter rye. Sixteen States report the condition above an average, two an average, and the remainder below. The maximum condition is 110 in California; the minimum 83 in Illinois. Spring rye is reported in only ten States; maximum condition 108 in Kansas; minimum 79 in Indiana.

BARLEY.

The condition of winter barley varies from 61 in Kentucky to 108 in Kansas. It ranges from 83 in Indiana to 114 in Missouri.

The Deacon's Dog.

It was a great many years ago, at a camp meeting, that Brother Higgins, a good man but passionately fond of dogs, came in one day accompanied by a black-and-tan hound. Somebody asked him to address the congregation, and he mounted the stand for the purpose, while his dog sat down upon his haunches immediately in front, looking at his master. In the midst of the discourse, which entertained us much, another dog came up, and after a few social whiffs at Brother Higgins' dog, began to examine the hind leg of the latter with his teeth, apparently for the purpose of ascertaining if it was tender. An animated contest ensued, and one of the congregation came forward for the purpose of separating the animals. His efforts were not wholly successful. He would snatch at the leg of Higgins's dog, but before his hand got there the yellow dog would be on that side, and would probably take an incidental and cursory bite at the deacon's hand. Brother Higgins paused in his discourse and watched the deacon. Then he exclaimed, "S. it in his eye, Brother Thompson, spit i. the hound's eye!" Brother Thompson did, and the fight ended. "But I just want to say," continued Mr. Higgins, "that outside of the sanctuary that dog of mine can eat up any salmon-colored animal in the State, and then chaw up the bones of its ancestors for four generations, without turning a hair! You understand me?" Then the services proceeded.

☞ Oh, what it is to be a lawyer's clerk! Owing to the acuteness learned in this high position a young Englishman has been actually enabled to escape unscathed from that dangerous affair, a breach of promise suit. He had paid his addresses chiefly by letter, and in the most tender and poetic strain, to a pretty girl, who, when his affection grew less, was too prudent and energetic not to demand golden comfort for her wounded heart. Her lawyer heard her case with pleasant anticipations of damages; but alas! when he examined the love letters of the lawyer's clerk he found his client was put by them entirely out of court. The ingenious young man had invariably signed himself, "Believe me, my own dearest, divinest, duckiest Angelina, your fondest, most devoted (but without prejudice) Tommy." The legal phrase, which the gentle Angeline didn't understand, had saved him.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS.
The startling drawback on nearly all medicinal agents has ever been that in their process of purgation and purification they have also debilitated the system. To obviate this difficulty physicians have long sought for the agent that would
PURGE, PURIFY AND STRENGTHEN
At one and the same time.
Their research has at last been rewarded by a discovery which full realizes the fondest desires of the medical faculty, and which is justly regarded as the most important triumph that Pharmacy has ever achieved. The important desideratum is which purify the blood and remove all corrupt humors and unhealthy accumulations from the body, and yet produce no weakness or lassitude whatever, but on the contrary tones the stomach and invigorates the body during the progress of their operation. They unite the heretofore irreconcilable qualities of a STRENGTHENING PUGATIVE and PURIFYING TONIC.
Dr Tutt's Pills are the most active and searching medicine in existence. They at once attack the very root of disease, and their action is so prompt that in an hour or two after they are taken the patient is aware of their good effects. They may be taken at any time without restraint of diet or occupation; they produce neither nausea, griping or debility, and as a family medicine they have no rival.
Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all Druggists.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN
JURUBEBA
BLOOD PURIFIER
Is the Most Powerful Cleanser, strengthener and remover of Glandular Obstructions known to Materia Medica.
It is specially adapted to constitutions "worn down" and debilitated by the warm weather of Spring and Summer, when the blood is not in active circulation, consequently gathering impurities from sluggishness and imperfect action of the secretive organs, and is manifested by Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches, Boils, Pustules, Scrofula, etc., etc.
When weary and languid from overwork, and dullness from constitutional inertia take the place of energy and vigor, the system needs a Tonic to build it up and help the Vital Forces to regain their recuperative power.
In the heat of Summer, frequently the Liver and Spleen do not properly perform their functions; the Uterine and Urinary Organs are inactive, producing weakness of the stomach and intestines and a predisposition to bilious derangement.
DR. WELLS'
EXTRACT OF JURRUBEBA
is prepared directly from the SOUTH AMERICAN PLANT, and is peculiarly suited to all these difficulties. It will cleanse the VITIATED BLOOD, strengthen the LIFE-GIVING POWERS, and REMOVE ALL OBSTRUCTIONS from IMPAIRED AND ENFEEBLED Organs.
It should be freely taken, as Jurubeba is pronounced by medical writers the most efficient PURIFIER, TONIC and DEOBSTRUENT known in the whole range of medicinal plants.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills.
I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years, and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period, not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.
I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.
